

The issues with Copyright are too complex and too important for the FCC to cook up regulations out of thin air. The congress must get involved, and the FCC should stay out of the whole issue.